Postdoctoral Master's Degree in Psychopharmacology

for Licensed Psychologists

Curriculum developed in cooperation with the Florida Psychological Association and consistent with APA recommendations

Psychopharmacology Training for Practicing Psychologists

The Center for Psychological Studies (CPS) at Nova Southeastern University (NSU) in cooperation with the Florida Psychological Association (FPA) will provide practicing psychologists an opportunity to increase their knowledge in psychopharmacology.

A committee was formed that included the president of FPA. The other members included representatives of the Nova Southeastern University Community Mental Health Center, the faculty, and administrators of CPS.

The curriculum is based on the model developed by the Blue Ribbon Task Force created by APA. In 1995, the APA adopted and approved the task force's recommendations. This curriculum serves as a national model for training licensed psychologists as consulting or, if legislation is enacted, as prescribing psychologists.

Are you interested?

The program is structured so that a busy practitioner can participate. Courses will be held on one weekend a month (Friday, Saturday, and Sunday) for nine months over a two-year period. During the summers, students will spend 100 hours at Nova Southeastern University's clinic facility or another approved site.

Enrollment in classes will be limited.

We plan to begin this program in September 2000. Registrants will be accepted in the order in which they apply. If you are planning to enroll in this program, please call (954) 262-5790 or email: cpsinfo@cps.nova.edu for application and further information.

Fees

Cost is predicated on the tuition and fees for master's programs. The 1999-2000 tuition was $420/credit hour. A modest increase has been proposed for 2000-2001. However, in view of the active participation of the Florida Psychological Association, members in good standing will be given a credit of $2,000 per academic year.
